We are pleased to inform you that today, the 6th of July, Loconte and Partners is opening his own London office, based in Mayfair at 42 Berkeley Square.

The appointed office managing partner is Senior associate Angela Cordasco, who has a strong background in international tax law and tax litigation matters. She will be the first point of contact for our clients.

The London office will have particularly focus on wealth management services and assist in operations between the UK and Italy.

Considering the new landscape after Brexit, we would like to offer our advice to companies and people who have already invested in the United Kingdom and now have to evaluate the fiscal and legal consequences of the referendum. At the same time, we think that the exit of the United Kingdom from the European Union could also stimulate new business opportunities.

Waiting to welcome you in our offices, we will be pleased to give you any further information needed.
